MANAGER'S COMMENTS

Malaysia's exports grew by 15.7% while imports increased by 11.2% Year-on-Year (YoY) in October 2025 (October). The trade surplus increased to Malaysian Ringgit (MYR) 19.0 billion (bn) in October; down from MYR19.9bn in the previous month (September). Malaysia's Consumer Price Index (CPI) was lower at 1.30% YoY in October compared to 1.50% in September 2025 (September). Malaysian foreign reserves increased in November 2025 (November) to United States Dollar (USD) 124.1bn from USD123.4bn in October. Meanwhile, Malaysia's Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) was higher at 50.1 in November compared to 49.5 in the previous month. US Treasury yields were lower in October with the Treasury 2-year, 5-year and 10-year benchmark yield closing the month at 3.49%, 3.60% and 4.01% respectively compared to 3.57%, 3.69%, and 4.08% in October. Malaysian Government Securities (MGS) 3-year, 5-year yield and 10-year yield were also lower, ending at 3.02%, 3.25% and 3.44% in November compared to 3.12%, 3.25% and 3.49% in the previous month.

Global Fixed Income markets were sluggish and traded in tight ranges throughout November amid the longest ever US government shutdown which starved investors of key US macroeconomic data and prompted market participants to stay on the sidelines. The delayed data was finally released toward the end of the month after 43 days of government closure and pointed to a cooling US labour market but no uptick in inflation. Nonetheless, the US Federal Reserve (the Fed) committee continues to remain fiercely divided between cutting rates to support the labour market or holding rates to keep inflation under control. Market expectations over the direction of interest rates in last Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) meeting of the year in December 2025 (December) swung wildly during the month but most market participants now expect the Fed to deliver another 25 basis point (bp) cut given the soft labour market data. Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) kept the Overnight Policy Rate (OPR) unchanged during the last Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) meeting in November which was largely within the market expectations. Malaysia's economy remains on firm footing as Third Quarter (3Q) Final Gross Domestic Product (GDP) rose to 5.2% while inflation declined to 1.3%. The local fixed income market continued to be buoyed by the stronger macroeconomic data and strengthening trend in the Ringgit. Demand for the 3 government auctions in November was decent with the 10-year Government Investment Issue (GII) 04/2035, 7-year MGS 07/2032 and 20-year GII 05/2045 minting Bid-to-Cover (BTC) ratios of 2.565x, 1.909x and 2.339x respectively. In the closing months of 2025, we have positioned the portfolio to mitigate the risks amid increasing uncertainty going into 2026. We continue to look for opportunities to buy quality assets at attractive prices while maintaining our conservative stance of medium portfolio duration and an emphasis on high credit quality.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The fund will invest primarily in a high-quality short-term instrument with a minimum short-term credit rating of P1 by RAM/MARC1 by MARC or long-term credit rating of AA3 by RAM/AA- by MARC.
